Review of recently-changed website template

The committee discussed various changes that have been made, and those that could be added over time. Mr. Lolkema explained the thinking behind some of the changes, and the committee offered a variety of suggestions meant to make the site easier to navigate. In general, the committee discussed which “global icons” were best for the home page and what content could be streamlined. It was noted that this will be a long-term project, since the site contains a great deal of information.
